

what is up guys welcome back to another video let's talk about three different stocks three different options plays that you guys should definitely checking out and the first one that we will talk about is gonna be carnival ccl this is carnival cruise lines and in the past month it's been doing pretty well past three months pretty phenomenal in the past year it's been extremely choppy but it's finally going from just mere 12 bucks now it's at 28 but 28 is still really far away from the carnival floor value of 41 carnival every time when it dips to the low 40s it bounces all the way back up to the 50s and carnival's at 28 it's still down 45 from their regular peak and carnival recently isn't really doing so hot because you got a lot of restrictions on them especially how the bookings have surged that's a good thing but the fleet isn't moving and that's because the cdc essentially halting carnival cruises and you even got like other cruise liners completely cancelling these summer vacation spots they're done i mean you can't really get any bookings i mean cdc is just shutting it down but here's the thing because of that it makes carnival cruises a really good buying opportunity and since it's still roughly 45 from the pre pandemic price and with airlines already recovering to like their original price tags because obviously airlines are like fully opened up cruises are the last vacation industry that hasn't fully opened up because cruises haven't actually fully opened up it's really great to start buying some long calls for carnival cruises now i don't recommend anything super short term what i recommend is january 21st 2022 if you're gonna get pretty risky i highly suggest a 45 dollar strike price which only costs 185 dollars the implied volatility is super low at 57 percent and the open interest is exceptionally high with a very tiny volume now the open interest is the amount of call contracts in people's brokerage accounts and that's a lot of contracts being held in several individuals accounts now the volume is super low at 24 meaning that the majority of individuals that are buying ccl options that expire january 21st 2022 for the 45 strike price they don't plan on selling this contract anytime soon there's less volume no one is really selling the people who bought have already bought their fair shares they're done and they're just gonna be holding on to these contracts as long as they can and this is exactly doing meaning there's a lot of people getting pretty bullish on cruises if you guys are really sad that you missed out on like the airplane rally like american airlines delta southwest airlines stuff like that and they're really bummed out carnival cruises royal caribbean norwegian are probably one of your best bets because these guys are still very low from the original price tag i think carnival could easily be worth at the very least 40 dollars in a normal price of 50. right now it's 28 so you're still looking at some massive gains now i don't recommend monthlies and don't recommend weeklies what i recommend is just dragging it down six to eight months that way when it slowly opens up maybe in the summertime in the fall because in the fall time we will be having a lot of people vaccinated and also my university is already opening their doors to have in-class meetings i think carnival and also a lot of these cruise liners will get the restrictions lifted off and therefore would be very very good for them and the second side we will talk about is teledoc health now teledoc health is a really big company if you guys don't know what it is essentially you can meet up with your doctor or primary care physician online instead of going to the clinics if it's something that's not super serious and they could diagnose you over the webcam they'll give you like a prescription then you go on amazon blah blah blah and they'll send you a prescription by mail or let's say you have a kid and he or she has a sore throat you could just talk to a primary care physician and it's just so much more simpler than just going to the clinic and therefore you do have mckinsey which is this massive research firm they estimate that after the pandemic the tele health community and also industry will be making roughly 200 billion dollars per year and that's a lot of money if you look at teledoc health right here the market cap is only 28 billion dollars and part of the reason why it dropped from almost 300 down to 185 is because one the tech industry was going up way too much and two amazon is coming out of their own telehealth industry which really freaked out teledoc health as investors but just keep in mind that amazon yes it's a pretty big company but with the market being so big like 250 billion dollars per year after the pandemic i could pretty much guarantee you that teledoc health will be going up especially at 185 is the perfect floor value if you guys are kind of afraid if tdoc stock could keep going down the chances aren't really high now obviously what i recommend is probably may 21st or possibly july 16th long calls and the reason why long costs for a teledoc health in carnival and not weeklies or monthlies is a short-term gains or i'm not sure of i'm not really sure if in the next two months if the stock has stayed up or down by no in the long term six to 12 months the general trend will go up a lot of these meme stocks you just need one good piece of information and the stock will rally up for weeks and therefore your leaps will make so much money even though previously there aren't really making that much money and you're fine if we bought weeklies and essentially we're betting that stock will go up in the next couple weeks and if it doesn't which it probably might not well you're going to be losing our money if you buy leaps and the stock doesn't go up you're going to be losing just a little bit of money just simply from the time decay but overall the markets go up you should be able to make a lot of money and last but not least we gotta talk about uber i think uber has a very good floor value of roughly 52 dollars and a resistance point of 60 therefore making it a really really good stock to play the iron condor with let's go to trade uber options here let's drag this out by one week and let's just make an iron condor for uber let's sell a put for the 53.5 and buy a put right beneath that and let's sell it put right now i don't really think go above 60 and then you buy put right above that click continue click one review the order so you have to put down a collateral of 50 but you get a minimum credit of 14. essentially you make roughly 28 just by holding on to the spread and winning it for a week and a few more trading days which really isn't that bad 28 for a week and a half that's okay here's the deal you got to lock down a collateral 50 bucks that's your money locked in but you get 14 right away so the trade goes against you you will lose roughly 36 dollars that's not that bad turning 36 to 50 dollars and essentially you just want this uber stock to be in between your two cells in between your cell call and between your sell puts so right now uber stock is at roughly 57 and our cell call is 60. now you don't want uber to be above 60 around expiration day remember you won't be seeing max gains until the last day our expiration is 4 pm april 16th make sure to close it at 3 59 pm april 16th if you don't you run the risk of assignment these are some of the most dangerous option strategies but that's only if you don't close it be responsible and close your iron condors and your spreads before the official expiration time in day so about 3 59 pm if it's below 60 congratulations you get your collateral back of 50 but for every penny above 60 will be a full dollar knocked off for collateral until it's above sixty dollars and fifty cents and you lose your fifty bucks and same thing down here you don't want the stock to drop that much either you wanna stay between fifty three dollars and fifty cents and sixty dollars so here's how it goes you have three dollars and five cents at your cell phone you want it to stay above that but not go above 60 our cell call so if it goes below this essentially every penny below 53 and 50 cents will be a dollar knocked off for collateral until it goes below 53 and then you lose all of your money and that's how it goes this is the power of iron condors as long as it fluctuates between those two prices you're okay now uber stock obviously likes to hover between 52 and also 58 so this spread has an extremely high chance of winning and this is how you can make some nice consistent weekly income that's about it guys thanks for watching definitely check out blockfy link in the description below click on it make a block fire account to pass the money and give to 250 with a bitcoin it's well worth it thanks for watching