

hey guys what's going on welcome back to another video if you guys are new here my name is jj and in today's video we have a classic video of the channel we are going over my top five dividend paying stocks for passive income in 2021 that i am buying this year but first i do quickly want to mention guys if you have not already got your two free stocks make sure you click the link down below in the description sign up for weeble fund your account with a hundred dollars or more and you get two free stocks that could be valued up to one thousand fifty 850 that's free money guys why would you not do it so like i said guys this is a throwback type video it's been a while since i've talked a lot about dividends but i'm excited to get back in the game i'm excited to be more you know dividend type investing and showing the growth of my dividends and documenting that process here on the channel to motivate not only myself but to motivate you viewers out there and let's grow these damn dividends together we can do this let's make that passive income guys for you newer investors out there i do want to mention this this is one thing i love about dividends is i always like to play out or somehow do a sort of scenario about what your dividends can really do for you now first and foremost i always say reinvest your dividends because that will compound your growth of your portfolio when you put that money that you earn from dividends back into the account back into your brokerage account and buy either those stocks based on a drip which is a direct reinvestment plan of your dividends goes right back into the company that paid you those dividends or you can invest in yourself but what i like to say here is is first and foremost my goal with dividends is to become financially free through dividends and also the cash flow of my real estate investments now one way i like to kind of summarize this is i like to compare things whenever i'm earning dividends so for example my birthday was yesterday and i actually earned a nearly 50 dividend payout from my pepsi stock that i own in that company and the cool thing about this is that's 50 that guys i literally had no i had to do nothing for that's free it's truly passive income is dividend payouts and one thing i like to say is okay well what could i do with that fifty dollars well that covers one of my bills uh my water bill is usually around my water and sewer bill is usually around 50 bucks a month so for one month that covered pepsi's dividend payouts covered my water bill now am i technically taking that money out right now and paying the water bill with no i'm not i'm putting that back into the account and i'm reinvesting those dividends but it's cool to think about that so it's kind of cool to always think about okay well i could pay my netflix you know subscription with these dividend payouts i could pay you know maybe my car payment if you guys have a car payment whatever it may be it's always a fun way to see that that dividend payment grow but anyways let's move into the meat and potatoes of the video why you guys clicked on it and let's talk about the five dividend paying stocks that i'm buying in 2021 for true passive income let's do this baby [Music] so here is the robinhood portfolio guys i am above that 20 000 mark which is awesome i'm trying to grow this thing as fast as i can and well it's not growing as fast as i'd like but i'll be honest with you i love seeing these red days because there are a lot of new stocks i have been buying and buying into if you guys want to stay up to date with what i buy real time there is a link down below where you can sign up for the discord and get real-time updates when i am buying and selling and doing options trades whatever that may be so for the first stock i don't actually own it in my robinhood portfolio i own it in other accounts i do have other brokerage accounts on top of robin hood but the first stock i am talking about in today's video is a t now guys i feel like every dividend investor youtuber out there has always in some sort of fashion made a video on a t because let's be honest it's one of the most popular dividend paying stocks because of the high yield that they pay now i'll say this if at t had a lower dividend paying yield and in return their stock grew a little bit more i would still be an investor in this company because i like the things that they're making now if i go back a couple years there are some things going on some deals that are made you know the way they're handling finances wasn't the greatest but there's changes being made to this company and i am liking it guys with att they've recently did a reorganization of directv uh they made a deal with a firm i can't remember the name off top of my head right now but that is going to be a different business uh setting it's not in with a t it's a it's a different uh structure they have set up for a direct fee so that's good the ceo of att has come out and stated that they are working on cleaning up their balance sheet working on the debt because that's also the first thing i hear every youtuber talk about when they talk about att is the amount of debt this company has

if they can clean up the balance sheet a little bit like they say they are working on this company i think does have a good future moving forward as well as the 5g space coming up they got hbo max working for him very well that they're trying to accommodate more and gain more subscribers from that streaming platform so i like exactly where at t is heading now as far as att's dividend right now they currently have a dividend of six point eight nine percent at the current share price att is at and they have a payout ratio of fifty five percent guys i'm going to be saying payout ratio a lot in this video if you don't understand what that is quickly that is the amount of earnings that this company is paying out in dividends so at t is paying out 55 of their earnings uh to dividend shareholders to shareholders for dividends rather so with that one thing i like to say is you roughly like to see a payout ratio of 60 or under i'm not saying you can't buy dividend stocks that i have a 60 or higher payout ratio i actually have a few of them on today's list you just have to look into it a little bit more look at the business model is are they doing the correct things with their money and if you see that being a true fit then by all means go ahead and invest in the company so with that att again meets that mark under the 60 at being at 55 percent and i am looking forward to seeing and gaining more of this company as we all know this is a big high dividend payer and it will be nice to be able to see them kind of work on that balance sheet and where these next few things go with att so the next stock on the list is a stock i've talked about a lot whenever it comes to dividends and that is 3m guys 3m is one of those companies is that you know they've been around for a while but they are a stock that is a very they make up a very uh wide range of products you know the mask they the post-it notes but they're not just a post to no type company guys guarantee you know a lot of a lot of different supplies out there not only to consumers like myself and yourself but also to uh offices and commercial you know industries that they're they're making commercials products 3m just makes a wide variety of different products so with 3m they have a payout ratio of 63 so it's just above that 60 mark their dividend payout currently with the share price at 192 dollars is 3.1 percent so it's a pretty solid dividend yield and they also are a dividend king guys 3m is a dividend king meaning they have consecutively grown their dividend every single year for 50 years or more there is a very few select stocks that have made it on this dividend king list and i actually have three of them that are dividend kings on today's list you'll find out the other two here in a little bit so 3m is one of those companies where if you sit on it hold it you'll be collecting in some nice dividend payments down the road so the next stock on the list is one of my favorite stocks that i own currently and i do own them in the robinhood portfolio you guys have probably already guessed it and that is pepsi ticker symbol p-e-p i also like to call it pep nice little pep in your step i don't know that was dumb stupid dad joke anyways guys pepsi currently is trading at 141 now first and foremost guys pepsi when you buy into this stock you're not really buying for major growth here i buy them to pepsi because they are a solid business i feel very comfortable owning this stock and it's also a very diversified business guys pepsi is not just a soft drink company they own many different products cheetos aquafina water bottles they have a partnership with starbucks they have many quicker oats the list goes on and on for the types of products that pepsico is made up of so that's one of the main reasons why i do love pepsi now they also do have a bit of a higher payout ratio currently it's at 78.2 percent but again this is one of those companies with what they're doing with their current finances and where this company is going i feel no pressure whatsoever with them still making that dividend pay out and increasing that on that consecutive basis as well now i also do want to say this with pepsi if they would happen to have to cut their dividend this is still a stock i would continue to buy i feel like a lot of people when they talk about dividend stocks they're only buying this a company strictly for the dividend i don't do that i buy companies because i want to invest in that company and where it's going over the next 10 20 years and pepsi is definitely one of those businesses that i want to own if for some reason let's hope not that it doesn't happen but pepsi had to cut the dividend in half to help get the business through some tough times to be able to reinvest more money back into the business i see nothing wrong with that again i don't it's not the best thing to be able to be cutting dividends and doing all that but just in case that does happen i am prepared with them having that higher payout ratio but let's hope they can look work on that a little bit and get that payout ratio down to more of that 60 level in the years to come now as i did mention earlier i said i had three stocks on the list that we will be uh talking about that are dividend kings that have been consecutively raising their stock for 50 plus years guys pepsi is almost one of those stocks i think this is the 49th year so either be this year or next year when they will be considered a dividend king so that would be a pretty exciting for pepsi and pepsi shareholders throughout so that is the third stock and let's move on to the fourth one another stock i have owned for a very long time in other portfolios and that is johnson johnson ticker symbol j and j now guys this j is the world's largest and most diverse health care firm guys they have three different main divisions within johnson johnson they have the pharmaceutical division the medical devices division and the diagnostics and consumer division so as you can see this is almost i like to call d j its own etf in the healthcare industry now again it's not technically an etf because with an etf you have many different stocks that you own under one etf but with johnson johnson and the diversification of this company i think johnson johnson is a great company to own they also have the vaccine that they've recently come out with so there are some great prospects for johnson johnson moving forward now as far as the details go they have a payout ratio of 71.2 percent again being a bit over that 60 level and they have a dividend yield of 2.5 and also johnson johnson is another one of those dividend kings on today's list this is a stock that and actually my sep ira i buy every single month it's just one of those stocks i dollar cost average in i don't really care where the share price is i just want to build up a very solid foundation and position in the stock and this is one of the stocks that i will continue to buy in years to come and keep adding to my position and earning those dividends on a quarterly basis now guys for the last stock in today's video is one i am excited about i actually recently just purchased the first share today to be able to talk about it on this video because i do like talking about stocks that i own and that i have in my own portfolio now i did only buy one share and i will be planning on buying more down the road it's just i bought it with the amount of buying power i had in the portfolio without transferring anything over currently but i will be buying more of the stock now this stock on today's list that is the final stock is garmin now guys garmin produces gps enabled hardware and software for five verticals they do do it for fitness outdoors auto aviation and also marine so garmin is a well diversified in business as well in the gps space i'm pretty familiar with garmin i've used some of their products in the past and i've actually uh know some people that work at their headquarters which is based in kansas city which is where i used to live and i really like where this company is going guys i think this company still not only has a good dividend which we'll talk about in a second but it has some room to grow in the years to come there's going to be a lot of advances in the gps space gps space moving forward in the years to come and i think garmin's going to be one of those players in the space that can take advantage of that technology growth in the future in the coming years which is another reason why i want to have this in my portfolio now the past year they are up 81 in the past five years they're up a whopping 235

uh 235 percent so as you can see there is some growth that has happened with this company but with that they also are at a decent valuation right now they have a current p e ratio of 25.3 percent if you compare that to the industry average of the gps space it's about 55.3 percent and the s p currently pe is at percent so as we know 25.3 is not the quite you know sexiest pe you usually like usually like to see something around the 15 level but in the current space this market's in the the crazy valuations we're seeing i like garmin here at the 130 share price they also have some great margins you like seeing margins on this company because that's more money this company can make to either one reinvest back into the business share buybacks and also dividend payouts to yours truly now as for the dividend goes guys garmin has a dividend payout of 2.1 percent and a payout ratio of 46.3 so a very healthy dividend a very solid dividend and they also have room to grow this dividend as well so i'm really liking liking garmin in the stock and i'm going to be planning on buying a lot more of this stock down the road we'll probably have a more in-depth uh video uh kind of really doing a deep analysis on garmin down the road so stay tuned for that make sure you hit that subscribe button if you have not already so if you guys are new here please make sure you hit that subscribe button if you guys got value out of today's video please hit smash completely annihilate that like button you widows out there you guys know what to do give a nice little tickle hump the damn thing for all i care as long as you highlight the sucker blue that is all that matters to me guys also quick shout out to roback they sent me some swag the other day hooked me up with literally the most comfiest hoodie i have ever owned in my life and i wanted to give them i want to show them some love i have their uh their instagram handle down in the description if you guys want to check them out also make sure you guys sign up for weeble get your two free stocks using the disc uh using the link down below sign up for discord if you guys want to get real-time updates on options trades the stocks on buying selling whatever that may be click the link down below in the description if you guys are interested in that but again guys thank you all so much for watching and until the next one you guys take care [Music]

you