

hey money makers welcome back in today's video we're gonna go over our most recent top stock plays and then we'll dive into the top three stocks to check out in april 2021.

also just a heads up i recently started a weekly video series every single sunday where we basically prepare you for the trading week ahead in under 10 minutes so if you want to check out the first episode of the series check out this video over here and as always if you find anything in this video helpful make sure you hit that like button turn into a beautiful beautiful blue as well as leave a comment down below what's another stock you're looking into in april i might make a video on that in the future first let's do a quick update on some of our recent plays before we dive into the top three stocks for april 2021 first is copen ticker symbol k-o-p-n we've been swooping up shares every time it got close to the eight dollar mark and then it very quickly ran up to all the way to eleven dollars i think coping is still a very great pick and shovel play i'm gonna continuously add more and more shares when it starts hitting that eight dollars again i think especially with the microsoft hololens contract with the us army to supply them with 120 000 goggles it definitely makes ar and vr goggles even more mainstream if you can consider the us army mainstream next is an update on carnival i recently took some profits i originally bought in with a cost basis of around eight dollars and given all the hype around recovery stocks as well as cruise lines starting to set sail again as well as an upcoming earnings say i thought this was a really great time to take some profit because i do think carnival is pretty much overvalued given it's very close to its pre-coveted levels plus it also added a ton of new debt onto its balance sheet next up some catalysts and swing plays from our daily market reports i talked about two takers ltrpb where i ran from forty dollars at the time of posting all the way to above eighty dollars on the other hand for pfin pfin um unfortunately this one didn't run too much i think it was maybe up one or two percent after i posted that swing trade but these are the plays that you want to get in and out very quickly because these are purely just driven off of catalyst and not based off extensive due diligence so if you want more alerts like this my buy and sell alerts my daily market reports where i talk about updates every single morning on price targets some catalyst runners as well as the current events a weekly watch list my private portfolio and join a community of informed investors make sure you check out the patreon the first link down below and now is the perfect time to join because we just started april a brand new month and we are welcoming everyone with brand new open arms now let's get into the top three stocks for april and the first one is going to be palantir take your symbol pltr and the reason for this is we recently received some really positive news as well as a short-term catalyst on the horizon it makes you say until the end to hear what my entry price target is now palancier has been beaten bruised and battered the past couple of weeks very similar to battered fried chicken and this is largely because of the very rapidly increasing 10-year treasury yield now despite the constant push-down and market abuse it does seem like palantir is forming a very very steady support level at the low 20 dollars and we can constantly see being bumped onto support line and now after solidifying the support level i think it presents a very nice buying opportunity if you are planning to hold for the long term and yes there is no doubt in my mind that the evaluation is very richly valued and some might say even overvalued but there's a ton of future potential pent-up and pounds here you know how a lot of people are saying data is the new oil well pounds here is pretty much venezuela plus saudi arabia combined now onto some of the good news it recently won a contract with the nuclear security administration for a five-year contract of 89.9 million dollars now bears i know what you're thinking if we actually divide this contract up by the five years the per year amount is actually not a significant amount relative to pound tier size and yes i 100 agree however i don't think the actual dollar amount of this contract is the paramount aspect of this entire deal i think the fact that they're continuously signing more and more customers is more important it's another government agency whether it be military and intelligence it just speaks to the volume of the technological capacity that palutear has as a platform now i'll give you bears this i do want to see pound tier expand their customer base and focus more on private companies right now there is a very large concentration of their customers within government agencies i do want to see them expanding into more commercial spaces they recently started with aws as well as ibm this that's really great news i want to see them expand even more secondly if you check out their most recent 8k filing on april 1st there's actually some really positive news as well as some speculation that we can make the first one is that pounds here pre-paid all of their outstanding term loans under their credit agreement value up to 200 million dollars and this is credit from major institutions such as morgan stanley as well as credit suisse now what's even better is that these institutions decide to increase the line of credit that they could potentially extend to pound tier from 200 million all the way up to 400 million so basically doubling that amount and these are two banks and institutions actually set price targets as well as analyst ratings for pounds here by the way this website is called tip ranks where you can easily see some analyst price targets et cetera if you do want to explore this website i have a referral link in the description down below now this is where i say it's going to be extrapolation because yes i understand these institutions have different teams setting the price targets versus extending these credit lines however it is relatively bullish to have the credit team see pounds here as a strong enough company to double their line of credits and again pure speculation then potentially these analysts might also have more of a bullish sentiment on pounds here and maybe potentially upgrade their price targets again pure speculation now the short term catalyst i am talking about is happening on april 14th and this is the double click demo day event eventually it's event to show off the powers and capabilities of palletey foundry in life sciences as well as the industrial sector now in terms of an entry price target it recently ran up to 23 24 um there is a very solid support at the 20 level i honestly think that at this level the 2324 is a pretty good entry price but if you want to play even safer um potentially wait until it drops down to 21

22 now moving on to the next stock and that is coinbase i'm just kidding can you imagine now i am mentioning coinbase because that is a segue into one of the stocks but essentially coinbase if you didn't know is going ipo on april 14th with a whopping valuation of 100 billion dollars if you thought pound here was overvalued with a price of sales ratio of everything i think in the 30s coin basis valuation puts them at a price to sales ratio multiple of i think in the mid 70s and this is where i'm trying to get it on the bright side if you are looking for entering into the realm of crypto brokerage exchange there already is a company that's already public as on otc and is growing very rapidly and even outpacing the growth of coinbase and that's called voyager digital ticker symbol v y g v f now i already made a video on voyager i think on march 22nd when the stock price was around 24 recently ran up to 29 uh we at the discord we got in around 15 to 16 so we already made some really healthy gains but i still think voyager has more room to run especially as we run up with the anticipation of this coinbase ipo the reason because i think people are going to start fomo'ing they're going to start looking at other crypto brokerage platform exchanges that's available on the market today they want to get in on the next hottest craze and they might be scared at the valuation of coinbase or the price per share of coinbase and they're gonna look for the next thing and a lot of articles on reddit or a lot of stock forum discussions are saying that voyager is pretty much a really solid alternative to coinbase and this sentiment is becoming more and more popular trust me guys if you don't believe me you can pause this video just click that pause click on the screen and do some google searches okay now that you unpause um i'm assuming you already did the google search and now you're back anyways it does make sense because voyager has a lot of pluses compared to coinbase oneplus is the fact that voyager is a crypto brokerage meaning they offer 12 exchanges versus coinbase is in exchange on its own so if coinbase as an exchange goes down and you're a coinbase user you can't make any more trades on the flip side

with voyager brokerage platform if one exchange goes down you have 11 other exchanges that you can work with plus with voyager you can get the best rate out of those 12 exchanges automatically another plus is that voyager's growth is pretty unprecedented it's one of the fastest growing crypto brokerages exchanges in the entire world right now seriously the growth is absolutely insane december 2020 the revenue was 1.7 million dollars january 2021 8.6 million dollars february 2021 20 million dollars these are month over month increases and it's expected by q1 of 2021 it's gonna face a nine thousand nine thousand with three zeros percent increase in revenue year over year now i personally wouldn't enter at this current level right now at the 29 mark it just entered oversold territory on the rsi i'm personally going to be waiting for a pullback into the lower 20s before i start adding to my position now i did make a high-level video on voyager check out this video over here for more details but you should definitely do your own due diligence on this one because it is an otc stock so it's inherently more risky plus just a quick plug if you want an even more detailed research report check out the discord and patreon where i post my full research reports before these videos even come out now on to the third stock this is more of a blue chip slash recovery play and i'm sure you've heard it before it's worldwide over 200 countries it's called visa ticker symbol v now the price dropped from 228 dollars all the way down to 205 i think around two fridays ago because of an anti-trust doj probe that was announced introducing a lot of short-term volatility pretty much immediately after that happened i made a couple videos saying that visa was a great buying opportunity i picked up a couple of shares of visas are a dollar cost averaging into it and more recently it's around 218 dollars and 219 dollars so it already ran up from 205 to 219. now in terms of an entry price target i think still anything under 220 is a pretty good level um i think this is a really solid blue chip recovery play for a couple of reasons first one is that visa is pretty much recession resistant and i don't think we're entering recession anytime soon but it's still good to have that in your portfolio for example if we check out the 0809 recession we can actually look into the business financials of visa and the revenues the ebitda their earnings all increase pretty substantially during that recession now if we talk about the stock price the stock price did drop but it dropped less than the s p 500 and recovered a lot quicker than the s p 500 did secondly it's a recovery play because visa is a payment processor meaning every time you use your credit card your debit card that is partnered with visa visa gets a portion of that as a transaction revenue and you can imagine as economies reopen not only in the united states but throughout the rest of the world because visa operates in over 200 countries more people are going to go shopping again more people are going to have work people are going to start buying things going to the store swiping with their plastics etc etc and

visa
gets a small portion of all of those transactions so therefore visa is not only a good safe haven but it's also a recovery play now there are more stocks that i'm looking into in april 2021 um that's not going to fit into this video i might make an updated video next week or the week afterwards or you can very quickly check out these research reports by joining discord in the patreon but as always unfortunately i do have to give you another homework of the day i don't i take no joy in giving you guys this but the homework is to post some other tickers that you're looking into in april 2021 i might make a video on them in the future in the meantime why don't you check out this video over here or check out this video over here